Six Ways You Can Profitably Use Document Translation

Here are some of the profitable ways that you can benefit from WTC Document Translation services:

- 1. WTC Members, Tenants, and Affiliated Companies – you can use this high-quality, economical document translation service to expand your business and promote your services to potential clients in countries around the world. Whether you are a law firm, corporate legal department, financial planner, banker, accountant, or manufacturers' representative, we can translate your company policies, employee handbooks, and other internal corporate documents for non-English-speaking employees.
- 2. Global trading companies, exporters, and importers – you can expand your business into new global markets with properly translated NAFTA trade information and import/export documents such as tax documents, financial and banking documents, contracts, bills of lading, shipping documents, rules and regulations, country of origin and product content documents.
- 3. Multinational companies – you need document translation every time you enter a new market – to translate legal documents, marketing materials, Codes of Conduct and Ethics Policies, packaging / labelling / product instructions, advertising / promo materials, multi-lingual typesetting, multi-lingual multi-media presentations, multi-cultural marketing, in-language copy writing, subtitling of voice-overs for commercials, IVRs, TV / radio spots, news articles, press releases, and news clippings.
- 4. Law Firms and Corporate Legal Departments – translate contracts, representative agreements, reseller agreements, VAR/distributor agreements, service agreements, customer agreements, and other legal documents such as transcriptions, depositions, financial prospectuses, financial statements and research reports.
- 5. Manufacturers – you can streamline your off-shore operations and customize turn-key plant and facilities operations with country-specific translation of operational manufacturing procedures, employee handbooks and notices, equipment and maintenance instructions, blueprints, corporate policies, export/import documents, and feedback to headquarters of local laws, notices, and market intelligence.
- 6. Technology, software & web site development teams – you can dramatically expand your profitable penetration into new markets by translating software applications in their entirety, thereby permitting software localization for new markets around the world. In addition, our country-specific, multi-language web site translations create web sites that are truly global – increasing market share and profitability. You can receive quick translation of technical manuals and development applications, both into and out of the local language, thereby enhancing their speed-to-market, hence market share and profitability.

Use our services with confidence. Your translation projects will be handled with superior customer service by our translation project managers, available 24/7. The security and confidentiality of your corporate documents and information is protected. Our network of 4000+ certified linguists and our ISO 9001:2000 Certified process ensure flawless translations. As a WTC Affiliated Company you will enjoy access to the same highly accurate document translation used by Fortune Global 500 companies, at a special 10% discount. So, request a quote on your translation project and expand your market worldwide.
